Spanish, French, Italian, and German Vocabulary Games

Introduction

This manual covers two packages of foreign language programs offered by Intellectual Software. These two packages have been combined in this manual because they are closely related in content. The first package, Spanish, French, Italian, and German Vocabulary Games, will be described in the first half of this manual. The second half will cover the Spanish Computer Tutor series.

The Spanish, French, Italian, and German Vocabulary Games are designed to motivate students to practice defining and spelling vocabulary words in a language other than their own. The program consists of eight disks, two for each language. The first disk in each set contains a series of seven games. The second disk in the set is a Utility Disk which allows teachers to add their own vocabulary lists to the ones already on the Games Disk.

The games offer students a high level of interactivity, both with the computer and with each other, as they can all be played by two people. Immediate feedback and a variety of game and question formats maintain students' interest while they practice their vocabulary and spelling skills.

Students who respond incorrectly are given additional opportunities to answer correctly. Throughout the program, the emphasis is on success. Students who answer a question correctly can move quickly and efficiently to the next question or the next game.

At the end of each game, students are given their scores and are prompted either to play the game again or to play a new game.

Educational Objectives

The purpose of Spanish, French, Italian, and German Vocabulary Games is to help students practice the following skills:

- Translating words from English into Spanish, French, Italian, and German.
- Spelling Spanish, French, Italian, and German words correctly, including the correct placement of accents.

VOCABULARY GAMES

Below is a list of the seven vocabulary games found in each language. See the Vocabulary Games Description section of this manual for explanations.

- Dictionary
- Hangman
- Scrambled Eggs
- Spelling Bee
- Superguess
- Tic-Tac-Toe
- Wordsearch

Within the program, there are approximately twenty pre-selected vocabulary lists for each language. These lists are categorized by subject. The games can be played with any of the vocabulary lists listed in the middle section of this manual.

UTILITY DISK

The second disk in each set contains files which allow you to create your own vocabulary lists or to make lists containing words from a particular chapter of a textbook. The options below show different ways you can create, add to, or edit vocabulary lists used with the seven games. See Game Utility Disk for instructions on how to work with these files.

- Add to Vocabulary File
- Create Vocabulary File
- Edit Vocabulary File

Description of the Vocabulary Games

Dictionary: The computer randomly selects a vocabulary word in either English or the foreign language (from the category chosen by the student) and displays it on the screen. The first player types in the word's translation in either language. If a player is unable to answer a question correctly, his or her opponent has a chance to answer it for bonus points. If the second player misses, the correct answer is displayed and another word is selected. Players may quit a game at any time, but the game is automatically terminated when all the words in the file have been correctly translated both from the foreign language into English and vice versa.

Hangman: This game is the one that is so familiar to students. The computer selects a word from the vocabulary list chosen by the student. A gallows is displayed on the screen along with a series of dashes, one for each letter of the word. The player guesses either individual letters or the entire word. Each time the player guesses incorrectly, another part of the body is drawn until the player is "hanged." The player continues to guess letters until he or she misses. Then the other player may guess. The player who guesses the last letter or the entire word wins the game.

Scrambled Eggs: A word is selected from the file and the letters are scrambled. The scrambled word is displayed on the screen, and the player is asked to unscramble it. The player receives one point for each letter in the word. If a player is unable to unscramble the word, his or her opponent has a chance at it for bonus points. A player may exit at any time by pressing "Q" for "Quit."

Spelling Bee: The computer selects a word at random, displays it for a few seconds (the actual length of time being determined by the length of the word), and the player must then type in the word correctly. The player gets one point for each letter in the word, but every time the player makes a mistake, one point is subtracted from this number. As soon as the number of mistakes equals the number of letters in the word, the player forfeits his or her turn. A player may exit this game at any time by pressing "Q" for "Quit."

Superguess: Each player is given a letter and is asked to give a word that contains that letter. If the player cannot think of a word that contains the displayed letter, he or she may select a different letter. This may be done only three times, after which the player loses his or her turn. A player may type in a word which is not in the computer (either a misspelling or a correct word that is not in the selected file) up to three times without losing his or her turn. This game may be played using any of the usual vocabulary files or the special Supergame File containing selected words from all of the files.

Tic-Tac-Toe: Most students are probably familiar with this game. The computer displays a 3 X 3 grid with the squares numbered from 1 to 9. The object of the game is to get three "X's" or three "O's" in a row, either vertically, horizontally, or diagonally. Two players take turns at selecting a numbered square by correctly answering a vocabulary question, and the computer places an "X" or an "O" in the square when the correct answer is given.

Two versions of the game are available. In the first version, the computer randomly chooses a word from the selected file and prints it with letters missing in about one-third of the word. The player who is "up" has to type in the missing letters. Each time the player types in a letter, he or she is allowed two chances at getting it right. If the second guess is incorrect, the player loses his or her turn. In the second version, the computer displays a word randomly selected from the vocabulary list of the player's choice, and the player must type in the translation of that word. In either of the versions, the player may exit the game by pressing "10."

Wordsearch: The computer selects words from the vocabulary list of the player's choice and prints them in a grid on the screen. It then fills in the unoccupied spaces with random letters. The player is asked to find words in the grid; the words may be either vertical or horizontal. The player gets one point for each letter in the word if the word typed is in the grid; if the player types a word that is not in the grid, five points are subtracted from the score. (The score will never go below zero.) The program prints a different game each time it is run; for this reason, the student must wait about a minute while the computer sets up the game.

Operating Instructions for Vocabulary Games

STARTING THE PROGRAM

1. Insert the disk into the disk drive and close the disk drive door. If you are using an Apple IIe or IIc, make sure the CAPS LOCK key is down.
2. Turn on the monitor and the computer. The introductory program will now load and run automatically.
3. The Intellectual Software screen will appear and automatically change to a screen describing the program. Press <RETURN> to continue.
4. When the next screen appears, press <RETURN> again to see the main menu. Type the number of the game you would like to play and press <RETURN>.
5. A new screen appears asking if you would like to play the game with sound. Type "Y" or "N" to make your choice. Choosing either option will not affect how the game is played.
6. Another screen appears asking you if you wish to see instructions for the game. Press "Y" or "N" to make your choice and press <RETURN>. Read the instructions carefully and jot down anything you may need to know during the game.
7. The next screen appears showing the correct keys to press to make a certain accent mark over a letter. Below is a list of these accent commands.

Spanish Vocabulary Games

German Vocabulary Games

There are no diacritical marks available in the German Vocabulary Games. When necessary, type the letter e after the letter that would receive an umlaut. For example, "böse" would be spelled "boese."

- 8. When the screen asking you to choose a vocabulary file appears, choose option 3 to work with the words already programmed into the files. If you wish to add your own lists, see the instructions on how to work with your Utility Disk.

PLAYING THE GAMES

- 1. When the screen asking you to choose a vocabulary list or "unit" appears, press the number of that option and press <RETURN>. To view these lists, see the middle section of this manual in the Vocabulary Lists section.

2. When the game begins, follow the instructions and fill in the necessary words when you are prompted to do so.
3. In some of the games, you will be instructed to type in the nouns along with their definite articles. When playing the game Superguess, you cannot substitute a letter in the definite article for the one needed.
4. In any game where you have a choice of either the masculine or feminine form of a noun such as "l'ami" and "l'amie," type in the masculine form.
5. If you wish to quit a game at any time, follow the instructions below. The only game which must be completed is HANGMAN since it takes so little time to play.

Operating Instructions for the Utility Disk

The Utility Disk can hold about 50 files. The exact number is determined by the length of the lists. Each file may contain up to 90 words.

There are four functions of the Utility Disk. To carry out these functions, see the instructions below:

Starting the Utility Disk

1. Insert the disk and turn on the computer.
2. Type KIE 1887 when asked to enter the access word; then hit RETURN.
3. The following options menu will appear:

OPTIONS AVAILABLE

- <1> ADD TO SUPERGUESS FILE
- <2> ADD TO VOCABULARY FILE
- <3> CREATE VOCABULARY FILE
- <4> EDIT VOCABULARY FILE
- <5> VIEW VOCABULARY FILE

4. Enter the number of the desired option and follow the directions on the screen.

ADDING TO VOCABULARY FILES

After selecting your file, type in the words as the computer asks for them. After you enter each word, the computer will check to be sure that the word is not already in the file. If it is not, you will type in the word in both the target language and in English.

CREATING VOCABULARY FILES

The procedure for creating a new file is the same as that for adding to old files. The only difference is that you must give your new file a name after entering the words. The name must begin with a letter and may contain no more than 20 characters. The name cannot contain commas. Follow the directions on the screen and type in the file name when prompted. The computer will check to see if there is already a file by that name. If there is, you will be given the option of either renaming the file or overwriting it.

EDITING VOCABULARY FILES

After selecting the file you wish to edit, examine the words as they appear on the screen. When you see the word you wish to edit, press the <ESC> key and type the corrected version. Please note that you must type all three words (the stimulus word and the two identical response words) even though you may wish to correct only one of them.

VIEWING VOCABULARY FILES

If you wish to examine the contents of a Vocabulary File, you only need to specify which file it is. The computer will load the file and display it for you. If the file is too long to be displayed on one screen, simply press <RETURN> to see the rest of the words in the file.

VOCABULARY LISTS

In some cases, the computer will accept more than one word for any word that has multiple meanings.

Spanish Computer Tutor

Introduction

The Spanish Computer Tutor series is a comprehensive program of Structure Drills, Vocabulary Drills, and the Vocabulary Games described above. The series is based on the material found in a typical two-year sequence of study at the secondary level or a two-semester sequence at the college level.

To keep the amount of typing to a minimum, exercises are in a multiple-choice format whenever possible. In cases in which the student must fill in the blanks, there is never more than one word to type in for each question.

In all of the program's drills, the computer selects questions at random and keeps track of the number of correct responses, as well as the number of attempts. Furthermore, the student is always given the correct answer before going on to the next question. There is also extensive error analysis and feedback so that the student can see why his or her answer was incorrect.

Educational Objective

The Spanish Computer Tutor series was designed to strengthen and test students' understanding of Spanish grammar and vocabulary.

Program Contents

The complete Spanish Computer Tutor package consists of six disks:

SPANISH VOCABULARY/COMPREHENSION DRILLS

Below is a list of the vocabulary drills which are available in the program, along with brief examples of the exercises found on each

1. Family Members: A mother is showing her child an old family photograph album and describing the relationship of each person in the pictures to the child. The student pretends that he or she is the child and types in the family member that the mother is showing.
2. Days of the Week: Pedro is having trouble keeping track of his appointments; he is always arriving either a day early or a day late. The student is shown the day on which a certain event takes place and is told whether Pedro arrives a day early or a day late. Then the student fills in the day on which Pedro actually arrives.
3. Months: This drill is similar to the Days of the Week drill. The student pretends that he or she has a vacation home and that guests arrive and stay for a month. The students are told either when the guests arrive or when they leave. The student then fills in either the month in which the guests arrive or depart.
4. Opposites: Two people are described as being opposite in every way. The first statement says something about the first person; the second statement says something about the second person. There is a blank in one of the statements that the student must fill in to show that the second person is the opposite. This drill is also a review of adjective forms.

5. Origins/Nationalities: Two sentences are displayed. The first contains a reference to a city or a country. The student is asked to fill in the blank in the second sentence with the adjective dealing with nationality or origin which refers to the place mentioned. This drill provides a review of adjectives of nationality.

6. Rooms of the House: The student pretends that he or she is visiting a friend. The friend's mother answers the door and says what her son is doing and then tells what room(s) of the house he is probably in. The student fills in either one or two blanks.

Idiom Drills

The Spanish Vocabulary/Comprehension Drills disk also contains four Idiom Drills. They are:

1. General idiom review
2. Idioms with "tener"
3. Uses of "gustar"
4. Weather idioms

This disk is used by students who want to record their scores on Structure Drills A and B. It is also used by teachers who want to change or delete the number of students' scores contained on the disk. Each file on the Utility Disk can hold up to 35 names and scores.

SPANISH VOCABULARY GAMES AND UTILITY DISK

The entire package of Spanish Computer Tutor contains the Spanish Vocabulary Games and corresponding Utility Disk mentioned earlier. To see the Program Contents and Operating Instructions for these two disks, consult the appropriate sections in the first half of this manual.

Operating Instructions

SPANISH STRUCTURE DRILLS A AND B

Running the Lessons

1. Insert the disk into the disk drive and turn on the computer.
2. The Main Menu for each Structure disk contains a list of the programs on both Structure Disks A and B. You may alternate between lists by using the <ESC> key.
3. Each Structure Program begins with a detailed set of instructions as to what the student is expected to do in the drill. Note anything that you may need to know while using the drills and type in your first name when prompted.
4. When the drills begin, type in your answers in the spaces provided.
5. When answering multiple-choice questions, enter the letter which corresponds to the correct answer. When filling in the blanks, you will be given a second chance at the correct answer if your first response is wrong. If your answer is incorrect the second time, the computer will give you the correct answer and allow you to move on to the next question.

However, you must answer the question correctly the first time in order to have it count as a correct response.

6. While the lessons are in progress, two scores are displayed on the screen: the first shows the percentage of correct tries out of all tries, and the second shows the percentage of questions answered correctly in that program regardless of the number of attempts needed to get a correct answer.

If a question is answered incorrectly, it will appear later in the program, and you will have another chance to answer it. For this reason, it is always possible to get a score of "100" since the second score only considers the number of correct responses regardless of tries. If a question is answered correctly, it will not appear again in the program.

Quitting and Recording Scores:

1. After answering a question, you will be given the option of quitting. It is not necessary to run the entire program before leaving it. If you wish to quit, there are three options available:
 - (1) Record the score
To record the scores, simply insert the Scoring Disk and follow the instructions displayed on the screen. It should be noted here that the scores are stored in the computer so that there is no way that a student can record a score other than the one he or she has earned. These scores may be viewed by the teacher at a later time.
 - (2) Try the program again
 - (3) Return to the program list

SPANISH VOCABULARY/COMPREHENSION DRILLS

General Instructions

1. Insert the disk into the disk drive and turn on the computer and monitor.
2. A number of introductory screens will appear. When the lesson starts, fill in the blanks with the appropriate words. If you make an error, the correct answer will be explained in Spanish and you will be asked to hit <RETURN> and then type in the correct answer.
3. When <RETURN> is pressed, the correct answer is erased. As you attempt to type in the word the second time, the computer will only accept correct letters in the correct sequence.
4. If an incorrect letter is pressed, a bell will sound and nothing will be printed in the answer space.

Quitting the Program

If you are unable to finish typing the correct answer, press <ESC> to terminate the program and the program will start again from the beginning.

Idiom Drills

In all of the Idiom Drills, the student is shown two sentences, one of which contains a blank. The second sentence will either have the same meaning as the first, or it will complete the thought of the first sentence.

1. Fill in the blanks to complete the exercise.
2. If you get the answer wrong the first time, you will be given a second chance to give the correct response.
3. After two unsuccessful tries, the correct answer will be given and your error will be explained to you in Spanish.

SCORING UTILITY DISK FOR STRUCTURE DRILLS A AND B and VOCABULARY/COMPREHENSION DRILLS

This disk is for recording, reading, adding, and deleting student scores. Students may use this disk to record their scores. Teachers may use this disk to read scores from the student files. Since it is necessary to type in an access word to run the score-reading program, students cannot read the scores. In order to keep these scores confidential, an access code is provided which should be kept secret from students.

The Utility Disk organizes scores by drills. If you want your scores to be organized by class, teacher, etc. as well, you must use a separate Utility Disk for each group. See the Support section of this manual for details on how to order extra disks.

Reading Student Scores:

1. Insert the Utility Disk into the disk drive and turn on the computer.
2. Type the access code <KIE 1887> and press <RETURN>.

3. Choose the disk scores which you want to read from the menu and press <RETURN> when prompted.
4. Select the file for which you want to see the student scores from the menu and press <RETURN> when prompted.
5. After making your choice, the computer will ask you if you want a printout of the scores. If you answer "Y," you will be asked to type in the date. You will also be asked if you want your list to be in alphabetical order.

Note: It is assumed that your printer will be activated by the command <PR*1>.

6. If you did not request a printout, the list of names and scores will be displayed directly on the screen. The printing speed has been slowed down to make it easier to read the list as it appears on the screen.
7. If you want to stop the program from listing names and scores, hold down the <CTRL> and the <S> keys at the same time. At this point, the printing operation should stop.
8. To resume the printing process, hold down the <CTRL> and <S> keys at the same time.

UTILITY DISK FOR SPANISH VOCABULARY GAMES

See the Operating Instructions section in the first half of this manual for directions on operating your Utility Disk.

Suggestions for Use

The Spanish Computer Tutor series is a comprehensive program designed for all high school and college students taking a Spanish language course. Since the Spanish Structure Drills become progressively more difficult, it is recommended that students work on the drills from section A before trying those in section B.
