Reviews and more . . .
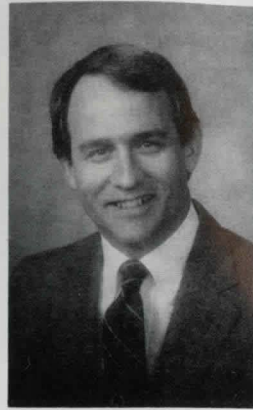

Dear Customer,

We know from experience how difficult it is to keep abreast of the ever changing software landscape. In fact, we are flattered that so many of you have sought our advice regarding software products.

In response, we have added the Baudville recommended All Stars. These products are published by others and guaranteed reliable by Baudville. We call them All Stars because that is exactly what they are. You may not find them at the at the local software store. Perhaps they are not promoted or advertised in the magazines you read. These programs all have one thing in common - they are All Star selections worthy of your serious consideration. Each carries the same No Risk Guarantee backing all Baudville products.

We are looking forward to your comments on our new addition - Baudville Recommended All Stars.

Sincerely,

Bill Darooge

Meet The Authors of 816/Paint Education

Robert Schwartz and Michael Callery

Roberta Schwartz and Michael Callery have each taught for over twenty years, Roberta in junior high and Michael in college. While teaching they earned extra income pursuing their art: Roberta exhibited for many years (and won awards) in New York's famous Greenwich Village Art Show among other shows. Michael designed play-bills for off-off broadway theaters and created custom-designed T-shirts and shopping bags.

When personal computers, specifically the Apple II computers, came on the scene they both launched new careers. Michael first , then Roberta. As the graphics editors of A+ and frequent contributors to other personal computer magazines they are nationally known personal computer graphics experts. Roberta has illustrated many educational games including the Scholastic Microzines. Michael has created curriculum software for many of the largest publishers including Harcourt, Brace, Jovanovich, and Laidlaw. Roberta and Michael have worked together many times; their most famous project is the Bank Street College Voyage of the Mimi on which Michael was the principle programmer for the Navigation Games and Roberta the illustrator.

Education is firmly in their blood. They both still teach part-time at the New School in New York City, the nation's largest adult education program.

Who is Hacker Jack? Someone with an idea, a machine, a dream. Who knows? Maybe someone like you. If you've developed a program you'd like to see published, write or call Baudville, 5380 52nd Street SE, Grand Rapids, Michigan 49508, (616) 698-0888.

USER VIEWS

Search for perfect program...

When a friend of mine decided to write a book on computers in education and asked me to do the illustrations on the computer, I began to search for the perfect graphics program. Baudville created that program for me! As a computer graphics instructor, I had worked with every graphics program that exists, past and present. I decided on 816/Paint because it was capable of mixing text and graphics as well as using all Apple Hi-Res graphics modes . . . . and more! The ease of use and the flexibility of the program made it ideal for creating original illustrations as well as enhancing screen dumps from educational software described in the text of the book. 816/Paint takes the art of illustration to a new dimension.

It would take a book of my own to describe the millions of ways that I use 816/Paint in my graphics classes at the university and my computer and art classes at a local high school. We have created everything from business cards to postcards with stamps; animated video tapes to maps of the school; and logos to electronic paintings. 816/Paint is the graphics program that has it ALL when it comes to creating art on the computer!

Cadre claims Baudville programs "User Friendly"

A cadre of Indiana art teachers hold the conviction the Baudville programs are "User-Friendly".

Students create binary slide shows, actors and backgrounds with Blazing Paddles (their favorite), Pixit, and Shapes & Fonts II. They utilize these files in animation movies using Take 1 Deluxe and the Take 1 Programmer's Toolkit. Their creative products range from whimsical to educational.

816/Paint has the ability to convert files to ProDOS and Hi-Resolution to Super Hi-Resolution. Thus, students see a tremendous change in the refined characteristics of the screen image. These programs have also been utilized to enhance files captured with a digitizer.

Baudville products are designed with compatability in mind.

816/Paint

The only full-featured Paint program that works with all Apple II computers.

One standard user interface, a consistent set of tools across all four Apple II graphic modes, and support for a wide variety of printers and interfaces (see Quick Reference Chart) makes 816/Paint the program of choice for school systems with a variety of Apple II computers.

The program's file conversion utility makes it possible to convert standard hi-res picture files to double hi-res. Double high-res can be converted to Super hi-res. Ideal for use with desktop publishing and other graphics utilities.

816/Paint gives you the tools you need for wide open graphic freedom: 12 brushes, freehand, lines, air-brush, text and geometric shapes. The marquee and lasso can be used to select portions of a picture to copy, cut paste, move or paint with. You may also stretch and shrink the selected image. The french curve tool automatically plots a smooth curve through any number of points you designate on the screen.

Cycle through color palettes for pseudo-animation, or adjust the current one to suit your needs. Eight separate palettes operate at the same time, and you can create color patterns and spreads that cover several of the palettes.

A 50-page spiral bound manual is well-illustrated, concise, clearly organized, and indexed. The education version includes a teachers guide and is listed on page 6.

816/Paint includes:

- 2 ProDos disks: a 3 1/2" 800K disk for the Apple IIGS, and a 5 1/4" disk for Apple IIe and IIc machines.
- Capability to read and write to DOS 3.3 for compatability with existing Apple II graphics.
- An easy-to-use icon menu that works the same in all graphics modes.
- Minimum distraction. The entire screen is visible when you're painting. Menus appear only when needed.
- A 4096 color palette in the Super Hi-Res mode.
- Flexibility. Any object can be scaled, rotated, stretched or used as a paintbrush.
- Support for all of the Apple II Hi-Res color graphics modes.

Age Level: Grades 6 and up.
(Blazing Paddles recommended for lower grades)

This new teaching kit includes two sets of 816/Paint disks (Page 5), a program User Guide, and a special Teachers Guide filled with Activity sheets and teaching hints. Each activity illustrating an art or computer graphic concept is presented in a step-by-step format, simple problems first. Following each activity, an Additional Activities section is designed to further extend the art experience. Activities include Expressing Emotion with Lines and Colors, Drawing with Shapes, Selecting Tools and Changing Shapes, Perspective, and much more. Glossary of computer terms included.

Teach your students to see, to think, to communicate, to solve problems, to evaluate, and to gain a sense of personal worth. Develop in them a sensitivity to and appreciation of art. Encourage originality, interpretation and growth. Provide opportunities for creative expression by presenting the material and the stimuli, then, stand by and encourage confidence.

Specifically Speaking: The Print Shop™ Connection

As far as importing graphics, Award Maker Plus accepts a Print Shop (tm) graphic and turns that picture into a border. This is not to be confused with a Print Shop border! Award Maker Plus doesn't import Print Shop borders, but does port the individual graphic into a repeated border for the chosen award style.

The Art of Praise

by Hartley and Patricia Lesser

There is not a more delightful experience for anyone than that of receiving praise for work well-done. As parents, when our children manage to complete a task never before assigned to them, and they achieve results worthy of commendation, words of praise bring smiles to their faces and usually make the remainder of the day a joyous occasion for everyone.

Praiseworthy Examples

Teachers find that a few, well-chosen words to students who have successfully completed a difficult assignment can inspire them to study even harder. The distinction received from the teacher is also mirrored by friends and other pupils who admire the student for his or her recognition, even though they may not voice their thoughts aloud for others to hear.

THE PARENTS' CHOICE AWARD©
Parent's Choice Fdn 1983

Praise enriches life, no matter how young or how old the recipient.

The employee hard at work in the mail room, the secretary typing lengthy and important reports, the account executive trying to break a sales record, the vice president cutting department costs without productivity penalties - all bask in the comfortable warmth of employer recognition for work well done.

An accolade is also ageless in its application, whether the young child in the kindergarten class who receives praise for their first fingerpainting project or the grandparent who is honored for reaching a new birthday or wedding anniversary. Praise enriches life, no matter how young or how old the recipient. Positive recognition received for a finished task raises the recipient's self-esteem. An award reinforces the fact that work performed excels, thus creating a positive cycle. Praise is infectious, and the one who receives honor is apt to do the same for others he or she associates with at work or at home.

Unfortunately, words soon dissipate over a period of time after the praised work has been completed. Typical of business because of different department changes at work, or a new academic group at the school, the person who made the award frequently finds themself no longer in contact with the individual who was the recipient of the honor. Effective praise needs continual reinforcement, else the accolade becomes an empty reality.

Award Permanency

Award Maker Plus solves the continual reinforcement problem and can easily and decisively affect the behaviour of others in any productive environment. In less than five minutes, a color or black and white award can be designed and executed to bring delight and joy to the recipient.

Baudville crafted this software to enrich both the user and the recipient. Award Maker Plus is the answer when family, friends and associates need a pat on the back. Plus, the finished product is so professional in appearance, the award will be kept - and probably framed - by the recipient.

" As both artist and instructor, I am excited about 816/Paint. In the near future I will be exhibiting art made with this program at the Joy Horwith Gallery in Chicago. As an instructor at Oakton College, I especially appreciate your conversion utilities. To be able to upgrade previously made work to higher resolution is a boon. Again, congratulations on a FAST, FLEXIBLE, SENSIBLE, POWERFUL PROGRAM."

Robert Stanley
Professor of Art

" I am writing to congratulate you on giving the Apple world such a fine program, Award Maker Plus, I consider it to be outstanding."

Major Lon Kinley
Commanding Officer - Salvation Army
Beckley, WV

" I want to begin by telling you what a wonderful program the Award Maker Plus is. I am a missionary in the Philippines. I use Award Maker Plus to make all the certificates for the students. It does such a professional job. I had a copy of Springboard's Certificate Maker, but I have not used it a single time since I purchased the Award Maker Plus! You should see the students' faces when they receive the certificates."

Bruce C. Robertson
Philippines

" I work at the Flamingo Hilton as a slot floorman and the poker machines we have are not much different than your (Video Vegas) version of draw poker. If I could figure out a way to connect a payout hopper to my computer it would almost be the same! "

Louis Stone
Las Vegas, Nev.

" I purchased your Video Vegas for my computer and I have been very happy with it. But more important than the product itself, I am 100% happy with your company! Keep up the EXCELLENT attention to detail and customer care and I am sure that people will beat a path to your door."

Manuscript Manager

by Pergamon Software

Anyone who has ever written a term paper will immediately appreciate Manuscript Manager! References and Citations are quickly created and properly formatted. Manuscript Manager automatically guides you through the entry of each element in a Reference so there is no need to remember all the specific information required for books, journal articles, technical reports, etc.

Footnotes are automatically numbered. Figures or Equations receive instant notations to editors for proper positioning. Headings are accurately displayed in hierarchical levels with the proper capitalization, centering and underlining. Manuscript Manager even generates a Table of Contents as you create your paper. When you finish use the handy Scanner Report to check your manuscript. This report lists any stylistic errors and where they can be found, lists any incomplete references, offers an option to re-number footnotes or figures, gives a word count, and much more.

As schools adopt the APA style as a writing standard more and more teachers will need this program as course material. Not only does Manuscript Manager step you through the elements of the APA style, but also acts as a tool to write papers for submissions to journals or books.
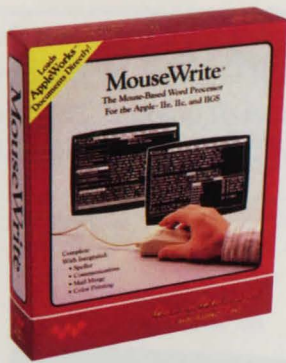

Manuscript Manager is also available in the CBE style, commonly required by biology and medical journals.

Chord Wizard

Guitar Wizard

It's Hi-tech hot licks!

"Most music software is extremely keyboard-oriented, probably because it's easier for beginning students to map out augmented 13th chords on a keyboard than on, say, a guitar.
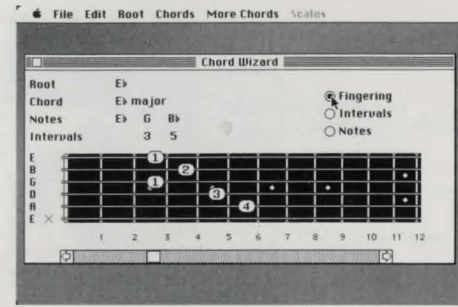

Unless you've got Guitar Wizard, that is. It's astonishingly complete, full of scale runs and unusual chord voicings you seldom see in guitar books. Guitar Wizard has four basic areas of study. Chord Wizard helps you locate chords at different positions on the neck. Scale Wizard displays fingerings, intervals, and notes for a whole slew of scales. Fretboard Wizard teaches the rudiments of fretboard harmony and open tunings. And for advanced axmen and axwomen, Improvisation Wizard suggests scales for your next blistering solo.

So, whether you're a novice picker or a seasoned player, Guitar Wizard is almost as educational as having Yngwie, Eddie, and Chet Atkins as next-door neighbors."
